The National Healthy Start Association (NHSA) is committed to improving birth outcomes and health disparities that exist within communities of color throughout the United States. As the membership association for the federal Healthy Start programs, NHSA promotes the development of community-based maternal and child health programs, particularly those addressing the issues of infant mortality, low birth weight and racial disparities in perinatal outcomes.

With over 100 Healthy Start projects situated across the United States, the Association works to expand the capacity of community-based MCH programs and infant mortality preventive health services, thereby ensuring that all families have access to a continuum of affordable quality health care and related services. This range of care extends beyond the welfare of newborns and includes mothers, fathers, and families, thus affecting the entire community.

As part of our mission, NHSA aims to be an effective advocate in policies and programs that improve the health status of women, infants and families and strengthen the capacity of Healthy Start programs and community-based MCH organizations nationwide. Over the next three years, The Association will expand on its mission and strengthen our brand and commitment to members. Developing strategic partnerships, engaging consumers in programmatic activities, and successfully communicating the outcomes of Healthy Start projects are among the goals NHSA has put in place to become a more effective and vital organization. As we work in collaboration with our members to improve birth outcomes, NHSA has outlined comprehensive and strategic goals to help us move forward with the ongoing efforts of the Association.
