

NHSA Monthly Fatherhood Webinar

Strengthening Father's Independence and Confidence In Healthy Birth Outcomes and Beyond

Thursday, July 21, 2022
1:00 - 2:00 PM ET

The month of July represents the concept of Independence for many. There is a reflection on the past that can set the stage for confidence for the future. When there is accurate and sufficient knowledge of our past, it can prepare us for better outcomes in the future. Many of our fathers lack a sense of independence and confidence regarding their role in healthy birth outcomes and the benefits of Healthy Start services. Therefore, it is essential that accurate and sufficient information is provided to him as early as possible.

This webinar is designed to strengthen the foundational knowledge and understanding of his importance and the role of his health in healthy birth outcomes. For him to gain greater independence and confidence in fathering, it is essential that he is armed with information regarding pre-conception health, his health and his presence throughout the pregnancy and birth stages.

Register today and invite your colleagues and even fathers to register. Then lock in your calendar Thursday, July 21st at 1:00 pm ET. Looking forward to your presence and participation.
