

NHSA Women's Health Series - Grand Rounds:

Pregnancy: It's a Family Affair

The Importance of Fathers and Partners

Thursday, June 1st 2:00 - 3:30 PM ET

Join the National Healthy Start Association for our Women's Health Series. Each month we will focus on a different topic. Grand Rounds will be held quarterly and will include case study reviews through a clinical lens, followed by debriefing and conversation about the presented case and implications for practice.

This month we will focus on the impact that maternal death has on communities and family support. We will also discuss the positive factors that lead to better outcomes than maternal mortality and morbidity, especially the importance and impact of the father's and partner's role on maternal and infant health.

Learning Objectives

- List some factors which can positively impact maternal mortality and morbidity.
- Describe men's preconception health.
- Discuss father/partner role in supporting a healthy pregnancy and the importance of family/social support.

Grand Rounds will be led by:

- Deanna J. Wathington, MD, MPH, FAAFP, Clinical Director of REACHUP Inc., Public Health Practitioner & Family Physician, Former Dean of the College of Health Sciences at Bethune-Cookman University
- Haywood L. Brown, MD, NHSA Women's Health Advisor; Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology & Vice Dean for Faculty Affairs, Morsani College of Medicine at the University of South Florida; Senior Vice President of Academic and Faculty Affairs, USF Health
- Debra Austin, Ph.D., Co-Founder and Director of Community Engagement for REACHUP Inc., Affiliate Faculty at University of South Florida, College of Public Health, Department of Community and Family Health
